

Keep and use this sheet as a reference; it is not intended as a list of expressions to memorize. The list gives the most common expressions that trigger the subjunctive, but it is not exhaustive. Of greatest importance is that you know and are familiar with the general category (e.g., "expressions of will"), that you understand it, and that you see how the various expressions in the category fit the general description. You should memorize some expressions for each category.

Remember that these expressions require the subjunctive when the subject of the main clause and the subject of the dependent clause are different; when the subject of both verbs is the same, most of these expressions will be used in infinitive constructions. (E.g.: Je préfère qu'elle parte, BUT Je préfère partir.)

EXPRESSIONS OF DESIRE, RECOMMENDATION OR WILL [volonté]. The subject of the main clause will always be a person or persons (je, elle, nous, etc.), and not an impersonal IL. The verb or expression indicates the subject's desires, wishes, preferences, or commands:

aimer mieux que [to prefer]	empêcher que [to prevent]	proposer que
attendre que	exiger que [to demand]	souhaiter que [to wish] s'attendre à ce que [to expect]	insister pour que	suggérer que commander que	interdire que [to forbid]	tenir à ce que [to insist] demandeur que	s'opposer à ce que	vouloir que
désirer que	préférer que

EXPRESSIONS OF FEELING OR EMOTION. The subject of the main clause is always a person or persons (je, elle, nous, etc.), and not an impersonal IL. The verb or expression indicates the subject's feelings or emotions about information in the following clause (e.g., fear, surprise, happiness, sadness, regret).

avoir peur que	être + ADJECTIF que (e.g.: JE SUIS affligé que / content que / désolé / étonné / fâché / heureux / mécontent / ravi / satisfait / surpris / triste / etc.)
croire que
regretter que

EXPRESSIONS OF OPINION, JUDGMENT, NECESSITY. The subject of the main clause will almost always be an impersonal IL, not a person or persons. The expression indicates a judgment or opinion about the action in the following clause.

Il vaut mieux que	C'est dommage que
Il faut que / Il ne faut pas que	Il semble* que
Il est ... bon / dommage / essentiel / honteux / important / nécessaire / normal / préférable / ridicule / temps que ...	*BUT NOTE: Il me semble que + INDICATIF

EXPRESSIONS OF DOUBT. The subject of the main clause may be either an impersonal IL, or a person or persons, depending on the expression. The main clause indicates that there is doubt or uncertainty about the statement in the following clause.

douter que (JE doute que ...; ELLE doute que ...; etc.)	Il est douteux que [doubtful that]
	Il est impossible que
	Il est improbable / peu probable que
	Il est possible que

SPECIAL CASES: croire / penser / espérer / trouver. These four verbs, when used affirmatively, are followed by the indicative. In the negative or in the form of a question, they are often (not always) followed by the subjunctive, since they tend to cast doubt upon the following clause.

Affirmative:	Negative or interrogative:
Je crois qu'il a raison.	Je ne crois pas qu'il ait raison.
Il espère qu'elle viendra .	Elle n'espère plus qu'il vienne.
Nous pensons qu'elle est malade.	Pensez-vous qu'elle soit malade?

EXPRESSIONS OF CERTAINTY OR PROBABILITY. By contrast with the expressions of doubt (above), these impersonal expressions all indicate certitude (or at least more certitude than doubt) about the action in the following clause. In such cases, the subjunctive is NOT used, the indicative is.

Il est évident que	Il est vrai que	Il est évident que cette fille a faim.
Il est inévitable que	Il est probable que	Il est vrai que je me sens fatiguée.
Il est sûr que		Il est sûr que nous sommes perdus.
