Part 2: You want to make advance reservations by phone to spend a few more days at the little Austrian inn you stayed at earlier during your trip through central Europe. The elderly couple who run the place don't speak much English; the phone answering machine doesn't understand any English at all; and, for all you know, your call will be answered by the young Bosnian refugee woman who works there part-time. She speaks a little more German than you do, but no English (true story, folks!) So write a paragraph, in German or Bosnian, to take care of the following information, so that you can just read it over the phone if you get panicky:

- 1) Identify yourself and jog their memory about your stay there earlier.
- 2) Tell them about your plans to return to their fair village.
- 3) State your accommodation needs.
- 4) Take care of the possibility that the inn will be full when you want to stay there, or will not have precisely the kind of room you want.

Part 3: A valued e-mail acquaintance in a German-speaking country has asked you to arrange accommodations for a friend who is traveling to the United States and will be spending a few days in your area. Your search has been fairly successful – the place you found is 2 out of the following 3: nice, convenient, cheap (or maybe even free!). Report back to your acquaintance with your information to pass on to the traveler, and offer all the support you can. Remember: You are writing about accommodations in the U.S., and they are NOT for the person you are writing TO.
