

UCLA MILDRED E. MATHIAS BOTANICAL GARDEN

The Mildred E. Mathias Botanical Garden (MEMBG) is a living museum, having special collections designed to assist the undergraduate teaching mission at UCLA and to augment the capability for research on campus. MEMBG serves as a long-term repository for unusual plants, a refugium for biodiversity. This facility offers its educational content to the campus community, residents of Los Angeles, and visitors from around the world to enhance learning about plants and promote greater appreciation for relevance of plants to society.

Hours

Monday - Friday
8:00 am to 5:00 pm

Saturday and Sunday
8:00 am to 4:00 pm

Closed on University Holidays

People

Director: Dr. Arthur C. Gibson

Sr. Garden Manager: Joan Muench

Directions

100 Stein Plaza Driveway,
Los Angeles,
California 90095

For parking information, click here.

Garden Map

Click here to download a map of the garden.